Don't throw your old holiday lights. Recycle them instead!

Drop off your old, broken or unused holiday lights for free at the following locations:

- Brookings Municipal Utilities
