Presentation on SDSU's Green Stormwater Infrastructure Research Project.

Summary:

Jeremiah Bergstrom from SDSU School of Design and John McMaine, SDSU School of Agricultural and Biosystems Engineering, will present information about stormwater, green infrastructure and sustainability. The presentation will include information about the SDSU Green Stormwater Infrastructure Research Project. The project was developed by the SDSU School of Design - Landscape Architecture Program in partnership with SDSU Extension. The project was sponsored by the California Landscape Architectural Student Scholarship Fund and the East Dakota Water Development District.
