Update on the Bob Shelden Public Arts Commission Project.

Summary:

A brief presentation by the Public Arts Commission Chairperson related to the Public Arts Commission project at Bob Shelden Field.

Background:

In February 2016 the City Council established the Dedicated Public Art Fund and created the Public Arts Commission to provide oversight of the fund and to advance public art in the City of Brookings. In October 2019 the Public Arts Commission voted to pursue a public art project in coordination with the Bob Shelden Athletic Complex Renovation. A total project budget of $200,000 was identified for the project and brought to Council for preliminary approval in early 2020.

Fiscal Impact:

A contract for services agreement for Reed Madden Design of $190,000 will be brought to the City Council in December for approval. The current balance of the 2020 Dedicated Art Fund expense line item is $229,238.
